It is very sad that many contemporary youngsters disrespect their parents, teachers and elders, considering them "foolish" or "backward" people, disregarding the commandment that says: " You shall rise before the gray headed and honor the presence of an old man" Leviticus But if it should happen that our parents or superiors should ask of us something contrary to the Christian faith or the Law of God, then we must say to them what the Apostles said to the Jewish chiefs when they insisted that the A Counterfeit Gringos Take on Third World Poverty should not preach about Jesus: " We ought to obey God rather than men" Acts In such instances of conflict between the Divine and human one should be ready to endure whatever the outcome might be, because suffering for the Christian faith is an integral part of our Christian calling and is rewarded in Heaven by Him Who suffered from unjust rulers Mat.
